Lifeworks Receives Grant for "School for Scoops"

Michael May

AUSTIN, TX (2004-06-14) Impact Austin is a philanthropic group made up of 126 women who give a thousand dollars each. They just announced that their first grant of 126 thousand dollars will go to the Austin nonprofit Lifeworks to run a program called school for scoops. As KUT's Michael May reports, Lifeworks will be operating its own Ben and Jerry's franchise.
